

AROUND the TOWNSHIP

By Henry Alderman

We want to thank Loren Marriott, Judge Silva and Joe California for the invaluable aid they gave this newspaper in judging the circulation contest Tuesday night.

It was a cold winter evening and they probably would have much rather stayed at home; but they came down to the cramped little Register office and plunged into the millions of votes with the best possible nature.

Fairer and more alert judges could not have been found.

We don't make a policy of telling other people how to run their business; but it seems strange to us that Alameda County capital can't be found to salvage the Reid Brothers' plant at Irvington and get some good out of it. The firm that built it has been in financial difficulties for some time and other groups which have utilized it from time to time have not had it at capacity production. The building probably could be obtained for much less than its actual value and either sold at a profit or leased to advantage.

We want to congratulate Joe Brown of Warm Springs for the new postoffice he is building at the south end of the township. Joe is one of the most forward-looking of the township's residents. He has built himself a good business, a fine home and a host of friendships in this district.

Perhaps me may be pardoned for inserting a personal note here; but we feel so good about it that we want everyone to know we got married last Sunday. The gal comes from the state of Washington and has never been in California. She has been reading about the three bridges and she is eager to see two of them. She doesn't care so much about Harry.

Bill Helm, theatre man came in and put us on the carpet. "You're all the time preaching about how people should patronize home products and then you go out of the state and get a wife," he said.

Our only comeback was the promise never to do it again.

Gladys Williamson, Tribune reporter and one of the township's best coons, tells us not to worry because our recently acquired better half doesn't know a skillet from a colander.

After looking carefully around to see that no one overheard her shameful confession, she whispered: "When I was first married I didn't even know carrots had to be scraped."

Chick Rose, mighty hunter and handsome yendize, brought us the corpse of a baby racoon on Monday. He says coons are reputed to be good eating. To prove his good faith, he left one of the feet on the creature. "That'll prove that it's not a skunk or a cat," he said.

LOCAL SCOUTERS RECEIVE HONORS

NILES—Southern Alameda Co. was well represented by those receiving honors at the recent Boy Scout dinner in Oakland, according to report by W. T. Lindsay, field executive. Three scouts were given awards for completion of ten-year service records, Ronald Bendel, William Hurst and Peter Decoto, all of the Decoto group.

George Jorgensen of Irvington, Eagle Scout, received a bronze palm award for having received five merit badges in addition to eagle requirements. Attending from Washington Township were Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay, Mr. and Mrs. Bendel and Mr. and Mrs. George Scamman of Irvington.

Other Southern Alameda County representatives receiving honors were Arthur Gee and Fred Smith of Castro Valley and Clinton Philip of Hayward who received silver award for having secured 15 merit badges additional to eagle requirements.

HIT RUN DEAD NOT IDENTIFIED

CENTERVILLE—Funeral services for John Doe unidentified victim of a hit-run driver, found on the highway between Irvington and Mission San Jose recently, were held from the Chapel of the Palms with interment at the Irvington I. O. O. F. cemetery. The man was about 55 years of age, blond and partly bald.

RUIZ FUNERAL HELD MONDAY

DECOTO—Final rites for the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Ruiz of 405-8th street, Decoto, were held January 18 with services at the home followed with interment at the Holy Ghost cemetery in Centerville under the direction of the Chapel of the Palms. The child, Mary Jane Ruiz, was seven months of age and is survived by her parents and two brothers.

NEWARK WOMEN WILL NOMINATE

NEWARK—Bids on the sidewalk to be used by the new junior traffic patrol will be postponed for two weeks as the result of action by the junior chamber of commerce Tuesday night.

JUNIOR CHAMBER INSTALLS HEADS

NILES—Need for a training ground for young executives has been filled by the junior chamber of commerce movement, Robert Fouke, president of the state junior chamber of commerce, told members of the Niles group at their annual banquet Monday night at the Veterans Memorial building.

Fouke stressed the functions of the junior chamber. He pointed out that there are now 8000 junior chamber members in the state of California and that the movement is expanding rapidly.

Fouke also outlined the present program of the state group, declaring that simplification of the November ballot, safety campaigns and numerous other ventures have been tackled with considerable success.

The meeting was opened by Sam Kerns, retiring president, who outlined the work done in 1936. Following Kerns' talk, John J. Amaral of Pleasanton, past president of the county junior chamber, installed new officers.

Men who took office were Laurence Sharpe, president; L. L. Louis, vice president; Dick Attinger, secretary; Henry Alderman, treasurer; and William Cavanaugh, Frank Duarte, Jerry Rebell, E. H. Frick and Ray Crane, directors.

Sharpe outlined plans of the group for the coming year. New street signs, revival of the annual wild flower show, and new highway signs are among the plans of the organization, he said.

Guests at the meeting who spoke briefly were Andrew Jorgensen of Pleasanton, George Barrow of the state highway patrol, Undersheriff James Ritchie, Highway officer Ed Krause, Dr. E. C. Grau of the Niles senior chamber, W. T. Lindsay, Boy Scout field executive and Mrs. C. H. Franklin, P. T. A. president. P. T. A. members served the banquet.

PLAN NEWARK IMPROVEMENT

NEWARK—Nomination of officers will be the principal item of business for the Women's Improvement Club to meet at the home of the president, Mrs. Alice Tuchsens on January 26. Present officers in addition to Mrs. Tuchsens are Mrs. Cockfair, vice-president; Mrs. Lena Bertolotti, secretary and Mrs. Dora Fuller, treasurer.

MRS. ATTINGER THANKS HELPERS

NILES—Mrs. Dick Attinger came into the Register office on Wednesday and said she wished there was some way she could thank all her friends for their support in the circulation contest.

That is the reason for this item. "People here have been so good to Mr. Attinger and myself," she said. "We came here only six months ago yet the local people gave us every assistance. "Of course, I am disappointed in not getting the first prize but $200 is a fine present and I had a fine time."

BULL ATTACKS FARRINGTON

E. J. Farrington is recovering from painful injuries suffered Monday evening when a Jersey bull attacked him in his corral on the Farrington place in Niles canyon. The creature caught Mr. Farrington while his back was turned and tossed him face downward on the mud. Mr. Farrington was knocked nearly unconscious but managed to scramble to a nearby pitchfork which he used to fend off the bull until he could escape into his barn.

Dr. E. C. Dawson is treating him for severe bruises and many cuts.

JAPANESE RITES HELD MONDAY

DECOTO—Funeral services for A. Nakamura of Decoto, aged 60, were held Monday with interment at Oakhill cemetery. The deceased is survived by a number of relatives but no immediate family. Local arrangements were by the Chapel of the Palms.

PROGRAM DUE ON DECORATION

CENTERVILLE—As a preliminary to spring house cleaning and re-decorating, a special program will be given by the Washington Union high school at the interior decorating class Thursday afternoon with Edith Badger in charge.

The lesson will include discussions of paints, varnish and stains removal of paints and treatments of natural wood, enamels; original designs for embroidery featuring colorful yarns; illustrative materials in wall hangings, table runners, cushions, etc.; hand-woven textiles for furniture upholstery, slumber robes, portieres and curtains and exhibit of samples of wall papers. The public is invited and there is no charge. Twenty members have signed for the class.

HURTADO WILL ENTER PLEA

NILES—Fidel Hurtado of San Jose, charged with grand theft in connection with the robbery of a traveling salesman's car at Alvarado recently, appeared before Judge J. A. Silva at the Niles justice court this week and will return Friday to enter a plea.

Three others arrested in connection with the alleged robbery have already appeared in court here, the other man having pleaded guilty and being held to the Superior Court for sentence, one of the women having been sentenced to four months in the county jail and the other put on probation. They are alleged to have taken clothing and other articles valued at several hundreds of dollars.

PLANS READY ON VALENTINE HOP

NEWARK—Plans are in readiness for the valentine dance which will be given by the ladies auxiliary of the Fire Department at Swiss hall on February 6. Mrs. L. Costa, Mrs. A. C. Silva and Mrs. Joe Paschote have charge of the affair.

VETERANS GATHER ON FEBRUARY 16

NILES—Plans for a joint meeting to be held with the Washington Township Post of the American Legion will be made at a gathering of the Auxiliary at the Veterans Memorial Building this week with Mrs. Marie Brazil, president in charge. The joint meeting will be held February 16. On February 5, the Auxiliary will join with the Legion in entertaining the Sons of the Legion who will install new officers at that time and will receive new colors which the boys have brought for themselves.

PUBLISHER WEDS IN NORTHWEST

NILES—Henry Alderman, Township Register publisher, and Miss Hazel Hake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Hake of Toppensh, Washington, were married in Yakima, Washington Sunday afternoon, January 17.

The bride has been city librarian at Toppensh for the past several years. She attended college at Pullman, Wash., and is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. Alderman, before coming to Niles, was city editor of the Yakima Daily Republic for six years.

The couple will make their home in Niles.

REBEKAHS HOLD JOINT CEREMONY

NILES—Ninety attended the joint installation of officers for the Niles and Alvarado lodges of Rebekahs at the Niles I. O. O. F. Hall recently. Refreshments and a social hour followed the ceremonies with Mrs. Lillian Griffith, Mrs. Fern Mitte and Mrs. Rose Fournier in charge of arrangements. Anita Sanders of Pleasanton, district deputy president and her staff of grand officers and drill team conducted the installation.

Niles officers were seated as follows: Lillian Griffith, noble grand; Evelyn Rose, vice-grand; Rose Fournier, recording secretary; Fern Mitte, financial secretary; Mary Barnard, treasurer; Julia Cull, warder; Annabel McGraw, conductor; Sena Carr, chaplain; LaVon Sorensen, right supporter to the noble grand; Lucetta Duffey, left supporter to the noble grand; Jennie Mohn, inside guard; Fred Mitte, outside guard.

DRAMA GROUP MEETS ON FEB. 3

NILES—Mrs. F. T. Dusterberry Alameda County Federation president, will lead the discussion at the next meeting of the Social Drama group of the Country Club of Washington Township to be held at the home of Mrs. Howard Chadbourne on February 3. The last meeting was at the home of Mrs. George Coit with Mrs. Franklin Brown as chairman for the discussion of "The History of the Drama."

MRS. ATTINGER WINS $200 CASH

The Township Register's circulation campaign is over.

Miss Janice Silva of Centerville is winner of the 1937 Chevrolet town sedan provided by Ed Rose as first prize.

She seemed very happy about it Wednesday morning when she came to the Register office to take title to it.

Mrs. Dick Attinger, handicapped though she was by her short time residence in the township, came in close second. She is winner of the $200 cash prize.

Miss Margaret Schelbert, probably the prettiest blond in the township, won the Wedgewood range. She is a little young to start cooking but her mother has her eye on it.

Mrs. Nell F. Myers, who entered the contest late, and got in some good clicks, won fourth prize, $75 in cash.

Fifth prize was won by Leotina Leal of Irvington. She will have $75 merchandise orders to spend with Register advertisers.

Martha Crane of Niles won sixth prize, $25 in merchandise orders. She says she knows right where she's going to put it.

Final vote was exciting.

During the last week, the ballot box in the Register office began to gain in weight.

When Loren Marriott, Judge J. A. Silva and Joe California began their work at 8 p. m. Tuesday, they had several millions of votes to count.

Contestants had turned in more than $1000 in cash during the final week.

The contest was a success for all concerned. The Register now has a greater circulation than ever before in its history.

Township merchants have gained materially: Ed Rose sold a car, several service stations sold gas and oil to the contestants during the campaign, the Belvoir hotel gained another paying guest in the person of the contest manager, other merchants will get business from the merchandise orders, still others will collect from the cash prize winners.

All these stimulants to local business came during the slack time of year.

Consensus of local business people who watched the contest is that it was a fair a campaign as it is possible to have.

Candidates who had offers from friends of considerable sums of money were discouraged from accepting. They were told to turn in only bona fide business.

Check of the contest records shows that practically all of the money turned in came from one year subscriptions—a fact which proves that there was no stuffing of the ballot box by "donation" money.

Following are the final scores of the candidates:

Janice Silva	11,613,300

$65,000 ASKED IN W. SPRINGS 'Y' COLLISION

OAKLAND—The accident of June 5, 1936, at the "Y" at Warm Springs, which cost the life of Mrs. Fannie O. McKinley of Martinez, was the basis for three damage suits heard yesterday in Judge Frank M. Ogden's Court and totaling $65,000. Mrs. McKinley who was driving the car when it collided with a truck at the crossing was the mother of eight children. Mr. McKinley and one of their sons, Orvis, 14 years old, were riding with Mrs. McKinley at the time. She received injuries which proved fatal.

RICHMONDS WILL STAY IN BERKELEY

NILES—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Richmond have announced that their son Addison and his recent bride, the former Miss Evelyn Williams of Berkeley, will make their home in Berkeley on their return from their honeymoon in southern California.

The couple were married January 9 at the Richmond home by Rev. E. V. Jones. The ceremony was quiet owing to the illness of Supervisor Richmond.

Everett Richmond, uncle of the groom, was best man and Mrs. Alta Fae Brewer was matron of honor. A wedding supper for immediate members of the family followed the service.

Mrs. Richmond is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Williams of Potter valley, near Ukiah. Both bride and groom are former university students. Both have been working for Alameda county charity commission.

PRUNE CAKE RECIPE GOOD

Mrs. Nell F. Myers comes thru again this week with a famous old New England recipe. She has adapted it to the use of California prunes so that it combines the best features of east and west.

Put in a bowl:
1 cup raisins
1 cup nut meats
Add some candied cherries
½ cup mixed lemon and orange peel. (Candied)
Grated rind of 1 lemon with a little squeeze of juice
Then in another bowl:
Cream together ½ cup shortening (No. 1 don't use butter)
2 cups brown and white sugar mixed together
Add 2 eggs and stir away—adding a little sugar
Now sift dry ingredients:
2½ cups flour, sifted with ½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon cloves and cinnamon
1 tablespoon allspice and nutmeg, mixed.
Now mix the flour with the fruit, and work in the creamed mixture, adding as you stir, 10 tablespoons sour milk. Bake in little loaves at 350 degrees. Good with a cream sauce made with egg, powdered sugar and whipped cream. Add a squeeze of rum. Will keep well if hidden. Keep for a week and it will get moist and rich.

TRY THIS NEW PIE-CAKE
A combination pie-cake, one that will have a custard underneath and a top something like cake is made in a fairly deep pie pan in an unbaked pastry shell.

LEMON CAKE PIE
¼ cup butter
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
Juice and grated rind of 1 large lemon
Cream the butter and sugar and add the lemon juice and rind and the beaten egg yolks, mix thoroughly. Now stir in the flour and milk, and lastly fold in the egg whites, beaten stiff. Pour into an unbaked pastry shell and place in a hot oven (450 degrees) for the first ten minutes; reduce the heat to a moderately slow oven (325 degrees) and bake until set as in a custard pie. It will require about 45 minutes. Makes one 8-inch pie.

ROLLED OATMEAL COOKIES
1½ cup flour
1 cup of brown sugar
1 cup of either coconut, nuts or raisins
1 cup rolled oats
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
5 tablespoons mazola or any other shortening
2 eggs
This will make a stiff and thick dough when all mixed together. Drop on greased pan with quite a space between them as they expand on baking. Dip a fork in cold water and spread the cookies out. Bake in a moderate oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Do not make them too large because they will be too heavy.

ORANGE CAKE
Blend 4 tablespoons shortening and 1 cup sugar
Add 2 well-beaten egg yolks
Sift 1½ cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder, and ¼ teaspoon salt
Add alternately with one-half cup orange juice to the sugar mixture. Fold in two stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in two eight-

Entered as second class matter at the post office at Niles, California, under Act of Congress March 3, 1879.

Determined a Newspaper of General Circulation by Decree of the Superior Court (Department 6), of Alameda County, California.

CONTEST ENDS

The thing that pleased us most about the circulation contest, which we completed this week, was the fact that no one attempted to queer it by buying votes.

In any contest there are always rumors of crookedness and fixing; in this one the leading candidates put forth honest effort and won on a strictly bona fide basis.

Credit for the success of the affair is due almost wholly to Miss Oma Perry, the campaign manager. Miss Perry lives in Los Gatos. She is a professional campaign manager and works on a commission basis. Unlike many campaign managers, she is strictly honest.

Because of this fact and because all candidates like and trust her, her campaigns are always successful.

When the Register embarked on this campaign, many local people said it would fail. They said we would not take in enough money to pay for the prizes and would lose our shirt.

This proved to be not the case.

The Township Register now goes to practically every home in Washington Township where English is read.

We realize that many people subscribed, not because they especially wanted a country newspaper but because they wished to help out a friend in the contest.

Now that they are taking the paper, however, we are going to try making it sufficiently interesting so they will continue to take it when their present subscriptions run out.

This is a large order because making even a country paper is an expensive process and advertising, which pays expenses, is hard to get.

It is our belief and hope, however, that with our new, larger circulation, we shall be able to sell sufficient advertising to make the paper much better than it is now.

We are grateful to the contestants and the community for the support they have given the contest. We know that many local people have been pestered half to death during the last few weeks and have borne it all good-naturedly.

By and large, however, the contest seemed to cause a lot of fun and interest.

Fun, in our opinion, is an important part of life.

FOOL IDEA

It is now proposed that a law be passed banning the payment of ransom in kidnapping cases. It would be useless to have such a law. Distracted parents would continue to do anything to get their children back, regardless of such a law. No jury would convict them for so doing.

Township people should think more seriously now of eastbay sanitation and the part they must play in such improvement.

From San Leandro to Alviso the condition of the bay waters is becoming worse yearly. With the new transportation systems, bridges and other developments nearing completion, this section must make its bid for industrial expansion that is bound to come. Improved living conditions and factory needs must be taken care of otherwise we will miss our share of the new prosperity.

Brickbats

BROADVIEW HILL

The Township Register, Niles, California.

Dear Sir:

I had occasion recently to visit Walnut Creek, a place I have wanted to see ever since so much fun was poked at the Walter Magees. They took all the jokes made at their expense with a smile, but the week-ends saw them hitch up their little old buckboard and make for Walnut Creek. The wonderfully fine homes that dot the land for miles around this thriving community are a tribute to the pioneering of the Walter Magees.

Yet Walnut Creek has nothing to compare with what we have here in either climate, accessibility, scenery or land. Why the great difference?

When I pick up my daily paper and read that Eugene O'Neill is contemplating making his home in California, perhaps up in the Napa Valley, I wonder why not here. Our community is, to quote a pet expression of Benjamin Ide Wheeler, "in properly isolated proximity" to two great cities. Do we need to import some hustlers from Los Angeles to show us the way?

The Irvington Junior Chamber of Commerce is making a fine record. They have only so recently organized, but they have accomplished much, and with proper support will go far.

The streets have been marked; a junior patrol established; houses are being numbered and various forward looking projects discussed. One that seems most important is the plan to advertise the town. That is where some one nationally known would do much for the vicinity, for such a person always draws others around him or her, friends, associates, business.

There is a building campaign needed, also there are too many old ramshackle business buildings that seriously detract from the sightliness of the town, and do not favorably impress the passerby. In Oakland it was decided to modernize or tear down such buildings. It might be a good thing to do in Irvington. How about it Junior Chamber of Commerce?

It would seem only good judgment to put a new face on the town, give it a trim business-like look which would indicate that it was a thriving town represented by attractive, up-to-date business buildings.

The chance is offered to support the Junior Chamber of Commerce in its work, and at the same time make property much more valuable than it is at present, as well as bring a good return on the additional outlay of money invested in this face-lifting operation. Who will be the first?

Sincerely,
Elizabeth H. Sloan

City Life

Smoking room conversations on coastwise Pullman trains have a flavor all their own. Their unique characteristic is the fact that they are always held between men who do not know each other, who have never seen each other before and who probably will never see each other again.

Monday night we listened in on such a conversation. There were an old guy, a fat guy, an Englishman and a thin fellow who called everybody "partner".

We were all traveling tourist and the conversation started on the skin game the railroads play, in charging higher prices for standard Pullman accommodations.

"The difference 'tween standard and tourist is $22 between Seattle and Los Angeles," said the thin guy. "I don't know how I could earn $22 any cheaper than by traveling tourist".

"The railroads are trying to set up class distinctions," said the old fellow. "That's bad in a country like this. The sooner the government takes over the railroads, the better it'll be for everybody".

Then they all got to talking about dining car food and how poor it was for the prices charged.

From that they got to talking about good things to eat and the thin guy told about how he spent $3.85 for Louisiana frog legs once and how it was worth the money.

Then the old guy said that wild duck, properly prepared, was the best food in the world. He said the way to cook duck was to wrap it in a mud ball with the feathers all on it, bake it in the coals of a camp fire and eat it whole.

The others all seemed to be impressed by his talk.

Then the talk turned to the snow falling in the Siskiyou and reminiscences of snow storms and sleighing parties began. The old guy told how cold it got in New York state where he lived. The thin guy told about a homemade bobbed he made when he was a boy and how he went 100 miles an hour on it once near Spokane and how his dad whaled the tar out of him for it.

The group switched back to fast traveling and all agreed that the railroads with all their faults were better than the stage lines because you couldn't get no real rest on a long stage trip and it made your ankles swell up big as barrels, believe it or not, partner.

Then the fat guy chimed in and started to talking about his stomach ulcer and the party broke up.

There were no introductions, no names exchanged and no dirty stories.

FROM THE HOTEL BELVOIR REGISTER

A Guest Editorial
By Clark A. Griffin
(As told to our Reporter)

We like to turn the pages of our register and look back over the names of those who have lived with us during the past year. They came from many different places, Tennessee, Ohio, Kansas, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, Colorado, Summerland, British Columbia and Chihuahua, Mexico.

As we read the names and recall the personalities that go with them, a few are so interesting that we can never forget them.

One, a Spaniard from Chihuahua, Mexico, made a vivid impression on everyone he met. He was one of the most entertaining talk-

BEN TURPIN REMINISCES

Following is a letter from Ben Turpin, famous comedian, whom many remember as one of Essanay's stars in Niles. He wrote to Mrs. George Sladek who, since her arrival here, has taken a great interest in Niles history.

Dear Mrs. Sladek:

Your letter of January 7th received and, as is always the case when one hears they are still remembered by their old fans, it pleased me very much.

In answer to your request for a few words for publication in your local paper, The Township Register, I would state the following: The first picture I ever worked in was one titled "The Awful Skate", made by the Essanay Company in Chicago in the year 1907. I don't recall the names of those in the cast, but I sure did a lot of falls. I worked two years and a half for the Essanay in Chicago, and then went into vaudeville.

Now to talk about dear old Niles. I just don't remember what year I was in Niles, tho I recall the first time I came with the Essanay, coming there with Charlie Chaplin and Bronco Billy (G. M. Anderson). I shall never forget the day I arrived. Went to work with Charlie in a picture titled "His Night Out". The next one was "The Champion". I stayed in Niles about a year and half and made many friends, among whom were Judge Richmond, Mr. Murphy, the grocery man the Rose Brothers, who had the Ford agency and Mr. F. J. Cesari. When I arrived in Niles, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Todd and Vic Potel were making slapstick pictures called "Snakeville Comedies" later becoming Stars. Others to become well known later were Wallace Beery, who needs no introduction, and Wesley Ruggles and Lloyd Bacon, now big directors.

I think most of the pictures I was in were taken in Los Angeles. Here I worked eleven years for Mack Sennett, and worked hard at that, tho I was immediately started. I must have been hurt about ten times during my eleven years, but I stuck by with a bulldog's grip and made good.

The funniest incidents? Well, that is hard to say. There are so many of them in one's life yet when one is called upon to name them they just escape you. However I do remember one picture I made called "Homemade Movies" made in the summer. It was very, very hot. I was dressed like an Eskimo and we took snow scenes and dog sleds on a revolving panorama. It was so hot that I perspired something awful and the skin that I was wearing had just been cut from some kind of an animal, a cow or something, and had not been thoroughly tanned, for the stench of it was terrific. The property man and leading lady could hardly come near me, but they fixed it up. They got a lot of lavender water and poured it all over the skin and then it was okay. In those days they made artificial snow of very fine sawdust, salt and whitening, using a blowfan to make blizzard scenes. I worked five weeks on that picture and after I got through, between the sawdust, whitening and salt, I could spit two by fours. I think that was one of the funniest incidents.

Another funny sequence was in "The Small Town Idol" where I had to sit next to a lion, and a real live one at that. I'll never forget it. They took a scene of me sitting next to him on a bench. I perched as far as the end as possible. The director said: "That was very good. Now we will take it sitting a little closer." Boy, I sure left that bench in a hurry and up to my dressing room I went, crocheting, that is, mile a minute. No more lions for me!

I have been in Niles several times since and it shall always have a warm spot in my heart. You asked me why I don't work in pictures and make the world laugh and be happy. Well, I have retired. Yes, sir. That is until I get near greasepaint. A whiff of that and I can emulate any proverbial old fire horse at the sound of a fire bell!

Trusting that this covers the information requested in your letter, and looking forward to receiving a copy of your newspaper with this write-up, and with sincere good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,
Ben Turpin.

CUNHA AT NILES ON FIXING TRIP

W. W. Cunha of 2492 Niles Road, Hayward, was in Niles this week making Mondays less blue to local housewives—that is, repairing washing machines. "It isn't the washing, it's a machine in need of repairs, that adds age to a housekeeper," said Cunha. "Besides, proper attention keeps the parts from wearing out. One drop of oil in time saves nine new parts". (For further information regarding Mr. Cunha's work, see the advertising space of this issue.)

NEW SOUND
READY SOON

NILES—Next Wednesday, the Niles theatre will be equipped with the finest sound equipment now obtainable, says Bill Helm, manager.

Climax of weeks of redecoration and rebuilding in the theatre, the installation of the new equipment will give township people the best obtainable in clear and perfect reproduction.

The equipment is of the type known as microphonic sound. It brings to every seat in the theatre a complete illusion of reality.

Helm has some good bills scheduled for the coming week. Most popular perhaps is Joe E. Brown in "Polo Joe". Brown is at his best in this picture. With him on the bill is Ralph Bellamy in "The Man Who Lived Twice".

"Jungle Princess" lush drama of the primitive with beautiful Dorothy Lamour, and Gene Autry in "Guns and Guitars" comes Friday and Saturday.

Sunday and Monday see high comedy in "Pig Skin Parade". Stuart Erwin, one of the screen's most adroit younger character actors is the lead in this piece. Eastern reviewers have given it excellent writeups.

HOME'S BEST

On Saturday we attended the meeting of the Governing Board of the California Agricultural Teacher's Association in San Francisco. Members driving to the meeting from Redding at the upper end of the Sacramento Valley came through snow all the way until they passed Woodland. Sheep men, they reported, suffered the heaviest losses ever known in the lamb crop. Many found themselves totally unprepared both in feed and shelter for these unusual conditions. Another member coming from Imperial Valley said that the tomato and early squash crops had been completely wiped out. A member from Salinas reported heavy losses in artichokes.

More recently Government Crop report of January 15 states that no peas will be marketed out of Imperial Valley in quantity before the middle of February at the earliest. The same source reports that a conservative estimate of early potato plantings in Kern County is 15,000 acres, an increase of 50% over last year.

A Lesson in Calf Raising

After a week of daily postponing the Freshman Future Farmers held their calf show between amidst showers on Monday. These 51 calves brought the total of dairy heifers raised by the Future Farmers here to 319 head. From the point of view of the dairyman, this present group was of special interest because they were outstandingly better than any previous group, yet none of them had ever received more than a quart and a half of liquid feed at any feeding.

CHEMURGIC BLAH-BLAH

We are all fed up on the line that these chemical Moscoses (or however you spell it) are putting out in every paper you pick up to read. After you've read a paragraph you are apt to think that the stalks are worth more than the corn and the farmer has been a fool all these years saving and using the corn instead of the stalks. We saw the big raisin syrup conversion plant put up in Fresno a while back to handle the great surplus problem of the raisin industry. It cost half a million dollars and returned $20 a ton for raisins—a good deal less than they are worth for hog feed today. We have seen eucalyptus forests planted in a dozen California Counties with similar high hopes as are offered by these dreamers who have nothing but their reputations to invest, but we have never seen anything but cordwood cut out of the eucalyptus forests. Everyone realizes the net gain of the use of all sorts of by-products. We just feel that these Chemurgic gents ought to produce one ounce of accomplishment for each ton of promises.

ON THE UP AND UP

We had occasion last Sunday to observe the beautiful park-like grounds of the California Nursery and in spite of the overcast skies to find throngs of garden lovers laying in supplies of growing things for this coming season. This, no doubt, is just another straw in the wind of general financial recovery.

SOUND ADVICE

We read where our former classmate, Harry Butterfield, has been advising all the folks with frosted ornamental plants to just relax and take it easy and to be in no hurry to rush out in the frost and prune every frost bitten branch. Wait till the plant has caught its breath and shown exactly how far the damage has extended. Usually it takes at least a month to determine what is alive and what is dead.

MACCABEE LADIES MEET

The Past Commanders Club of the Ladies of the Maccabees held its annual banquet and election of officers Monday evening at the Athens Club. Twenty-five members of the Club were present only two absent because of illness, with president, Mrs. Calla Finch presiding. Mrs. Frank Fields was elected president of the Club for the new year.

Future Farmers

By Edward Martinez

On Monday forenoon January 18 the Washington Chapter of Future Farmers held their Calf Show. The calves were brought to the show grounds by a school truck and two pick-ups.

There were 51 calves shown that were raised by ten freshman boys. This makes a total of 515 calves raised on shares for the Golden State by the Future Farmers. The calves were judged by John Bower and John Oliveira. In announcing the winner Mr. Bower said that this group of calves were the best raised yet for the Golden State by the local chapter.

The awards will be given at the next Student Body meeting. Those receiving awards are the following:

Best Group of Calves, John Cardoza, John Ura and Anthony Pine.
Best Individual Calves, Cesario Delgado, Dan Lezand and Gomes Bros.

Cleanest and best groomed Calves, Cesario Delgado, John Ura and Jesus Martinez.

Best Project book, John Ura, Anthony Pine and John Cardoza.
Honorable mention, Cesario Delgado, Dan Lezand and Gomes Bros.

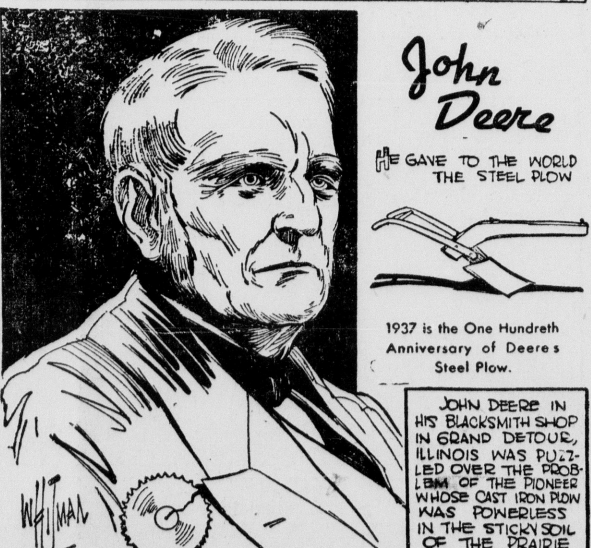

Five of the boys kept one calf. These are Dan Lezand, Cesario Delgado, Jesus Martinez, Anthony Pine and John Cardoza. The rest of the boys sold their calves to the Golden State Company. At the close of the show these calves were hauled to Oakley.

W. F. Mixon of the United States Farm Credit Administration spoke before the junior and senior agriculture classes last Wednesday afternoon. His subject was "Credit Problems of the Young Farmer". He told what the Farm Credit Administration was doing in making money available at low prices of interest for the fellow starting in farming. He warned the students in later life never to borrow unless they felt reasonably sure that they could get ahead by the use of the borrowed money.

The Future Farmers held their regular night meeting on January 15. At the meeting plans were made for a student body assembly to be held February 19. After the meeting, basketball was played and refreshments served.

Its Graduation time. You will find a lot of nice cards for the graduates at Hayward Drug Co. 950 B Street.

LOCAL WINERY
SHOWS GROWTH

CENTERVILLE—Williams Bros. who have been in the vegetable business, with headquarters at Centerville, for the past 14 years, are now operating a bonded winery. The winery's wholesale and retail departments are at Centerville.

Burdette Williams who now devotes considerable time to the winery, reports the sales for their wines more than doubled over sales in 1935.

Mr. Williams also states they specialize in old vintage wines of the finest quality. This latter fact is evidenced by the five medals awarded their wines for high quality and excellence at the 1935 and 1936 California state fairs, where they competed with all the wineries of the state.

A large part of their wines are bottled and shipped to various parts of the country.

Mr. Williams asserts there is a large demand for their wines in Hollywood where many of the motion picture people purchase in case lots.

Several of the large railroads serve Williams Bros. wines in their dining cars, Mr. Williams says.

He points out that many local people are not aware of the fact that such fine beverages can be had so cheaply, so close at hand. For this reason he has extended an invitation to Niles people to visit the bottling plant at Centerville and sample their favorite wines. Williams Bros. carries 15 varieties.

The winery is under the direction of Frank Oldfield, formerly winery superintendent at Amaden vineyards at Los Gatos. He extends an invitation to local people to ask him any questions they may have pertaining to fine wines.
